LEAGUE COUNCIL CONDEMNS GERMANY

POWERS UNANIMOUS IN VOTING AGAINST TREATY BREAKER

CONDEMNATION CAME FEW HOURS AFTER DRAMATIC APPEAL BY HITLER'S ENVOY

LONDON, Mar. 19.—(P)—The council of the League of Nations condemned the German government under Reichsfuehrer Hitler as a treaty breaker today.

The vote of the assembled powers was unanimous.

The league members decided that Germany had violated both the Versailles and Locarno treaties when she moved troops into the Rhineland which had been ordered demilitarized at the end of the World War.

The condemnation came a few hours after Gen. Joachim von Ribbentrop, special ambassador of Hitler, had stood before the members and argued that the German course of action in the Rhineland had been justified by France's military assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

It was the first time in more than two years that a representative of Germany had spoken in the League of Nations, for Hitler withdrew the Reich from the international body in 1933 on the grounds that she was not being treated as an equal, but as a conquered nation.

There was one vote cast opposed to the condemnation, but that was by Germany and, consequently, was not counted in the unanimous verdict. Neither were the votes by Belgium and France, the other two parties to the dispute, considered.

The ballot was taken on a resolution proposed by France and Belgium.

Immediately after the vote was taken, Von Ribbentrop arose in his place at the horseshoe council table and, in the name of the German people and the German government declared:

"This resolution will not be maintained in the judgment of history. If the honorable members had had more time to consider my statement this morning, the vote would have been different."

Dizzy Dean Signs Pledge Loyalty Cards Thursday

BRADENTON, Fla., March 19.—(P)—Holdout Jerome "Dizzy" Dean made peace with the St. Louis Cardinals today, signed a pledge of loyalty, affirmed his friendship for Calhoun Virgil Davis and agreed to talk salary figures to-morrow.

Dean and Branch Rickey, vice president and general manager of the Cardinals, held a peace conference at a hotel. Rickey again told the star pitcher there was more than a question of pay—the club wanted to be sure "Diz" would be loyal and obedient.

PRESIDENT'S RELIEF REQUEST FOR BILLION AND HALF DOLLARS LEADS TO CLASHES OF OPINIONS

FARM OPERATIONS PROGRESSING BUT RAIN IS NEEDED

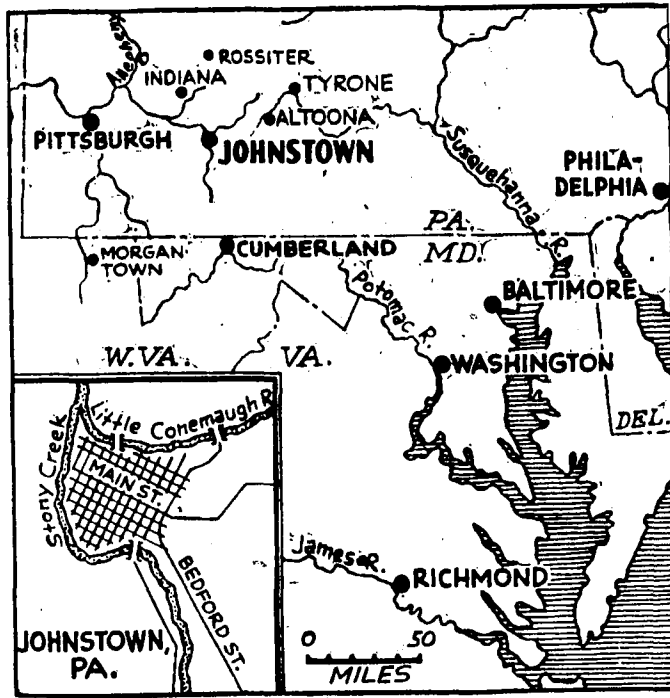

ABOUT NINETY PER CENT OF CORN PLANTED; MAKING GOOD STAND

Farming operations are going forward in Navarro county at the present time, but in all sections except about a 10-mile strip on the eastern portion, rain is badly needed, according to C. C. Morris, county agent, who outlined the probable acreage in the various crops, and some of the regulations on the government farm program although definite information on much of the government plans has not been revealed.

Speaking of the small grains—oats, barley and wheat—the county agent said that there would be about a normal average in 1936. Oats is the principal small grain. The condition of the oats was estimated at 65 per cent. Morris estimated that about 90 per cent of the corn had been

MUCH INTEREST IN "NAVARRO COUNTY HISTORY" CAMPAIGN

SEEKING TO SECURE CONCISE HISTORICAL SKETCH OF EVERY COMMUNITY

Interest in the "Navarro County History" campaign as a part of the celebration of the ninetieth anniversary of the organization of the county to be observed on July 13 is reported spreading rapidly to all sections.

G. H. Brown, county school superintendent, is the chairman of the movement which has as its goal the compiling of a concise, accurate historical sketch of every community, voting box, and cemetery in Navarro county within the next few weeks. Plans have been made for the publication of the sketches after they have been completed.

Every school in Navarro county is asked to secure the co-operation of the students in its district in completing the needed information, including a separate sketch for each community, voting box, or former settlement within its bounds.

Hundreds of unique facts connected with the early days of Texas are expected to be revealed in the research done in each of the communities.

Real Opportunity. "It is a real opportunity for each of us to participate actively in the Texas Centennial celebration," Mr. Brown pointed out. "It will afford us an opportunity to learn the history of our own region."

ABOUT NINETY PER CENT OF CORN PLANTED; MAKING GOOD STAND

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(P)—President Roosevelt's request for a $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation for next year led to clashes of opinion on Capitol Hill today, but democratic leaders predicted congress would approve it. Republicans and some democrats were critical, but many in both parties conceded the program would pass because they said concerted opposition sufficient to stop it was not in sight.

Some saw in the message delivered yesterday an effort to ward off a normal average in 1936. Oats is the principal small grain. The condition of the oats was estimated at 65 per cent. Morris estimated that about 90 per cent of the corn had been

THIRTEEN DEAD IN WHEELING AS FLOOD SWEEPS OVER CITY

NINE DROWNED AND FOUR KILLED IN EXPLOSION IN WEST VIRGINIA CITY

WHEELING, W. Va., Mar. 19.—Torrents of the Ohio river engulfed Wheeling's downtown area with seven feet of water, swiftly claimed 13 lives and surged down on dozens of other West Virginia and Ohio cities today.

Two others were drowned at Wellsburg, upstream from Wheeling, and panicky survivors, stranded high in their homes, called for help throughout the night.

Hundreds were marooned in Wheeling homes and business places as the flood waters, their devastating invasion of the Pittsburgh area accomplished, moved in.

The flood struck hardest at Wheeling Island—in the middle of the Ohio river—and police and volunteer rescuers rode a fleet of some fifty boats to help the stranded inhabitants to highlands.

Many people were aided from second story windows. Police Lieutenant J. E. Stanley told the Associated Press evacuation work went on rapidly overnight but that nine people drowned attempting to escape the flood. Four others were killed in an explosion in a house.

W. H. Yenke, a reporter for the Wheeling News, over the telephone described scenes of desolation and terror.

"Everything is covered up," he

SWALLOWS RETURNED TO MISSION IN CALIFORNIA TODAY, AS THEY HAVE DONE FOR SEVENTY YEARS

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Calif., March 19.—(P)—The swallows, winged wanderers of Mission San Juan Capistrano, came home today to the adobe walls that have received them on March 19, St. Joseph's Day, for 70 years.

As long as the oldest inhabitant of this little mission town can remember, the swallows have come to order by President Colville at 10 o'clock. The invocation will be given by Rev. J. C. Colvin at 10:15 o'clock.

Don Juan Aguillar, mission guide, said it was the first time in his records that the little summer visitors had not gone directly to the mission.

The extra calendar day of leap year had never before caused the birds to deviate from their March 19 arrival, Aguillar declared.

Noted for their regular migration and their ability to feed on the wing, the swallows at the approach of winter—say ornithologists in explanation—move to warmer climes in Mexico and South America.

A corps of newspapermen, photographers and radio announcers encamped in the town to record the eventual return.

Gasoline Truck Driver Killed In Crash Thursday

DALLAS, March 19.—(P)—Q. A. Quilly, 20, Fort Worth, was killed today when his gasoline truck crashed into a passenger car near Forney.

Ase Monroe Orand, 18, of Brownwood, a passenger in Quilly's truck, and J. C. Small, 22, Ben Robertson, 19, Floyd Bennett, 27, and Walter Starnes, 18, all of Terrell, occupants of the passenger car, were injured.

Orand said the accident occurred on a curve when the automobile was passing another truck. Quilly's truck was overturned but the 1,100 gallons of gasoline it carried did not catch fire.

Liquor Raids Staged But No Charges Filed

A quantity of whiskey and wine was seized in a series of raids conducted in Corsicana and other sections of Navarro county Wednesday night by four officers from the Texas liquor control commission and Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse and his deputies.

Included in the seizures were 20 half pints and five quarts of whiskey at one site, fifteen quarts of wine at another, and thirty gallons of corn whiskey in an automobile. A number of other places were raided.

No formal complaints had been filed here Thursday. The criminal district attorney's office said that no charges had been filed there.

It is understood that charges of illegal sales of whiskey would be lodged against a number of persons in and near Corsicana as a result of investigations conducted during the past several days by the state officers.

No information has been given as to whether the results of the raids and investigations would be submitted to the present grand jury now in session, or taken to the federal authorities.

Near Hundred Dead and Property Damage Over $150,000,000 Reported

By R. H. HIPPELHEUSER (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press.)

With at least 94 dead and many more believed lost, the unrelenting floods in the eastern states swirled furiously on today, wreaking destruction, especially in the Ohio, Potomac and Connecticut valleys and leaving up to 200,000 persons homeless in eleven states.

Including the unverified reports, the death list stood well over 100.

By states, the tabulated, unofficial death list for the last two days stood:

Pennsylvania, 56; West Virginia, 16; Virginia, 4; Vermont, 4; North Carolina, 2; Georgia, 2; Maryland, 2; Massachusetts, 3; New Hampshire, 1; New York, 2; Washington, D. C., 2.

Army engineer reports indicated the ultimate death toll in the Johnstown and Pittsburgh districts might further boost the total.

Unofficial estimates, necessarily incomplete, placed the property damage at more than $150,000,000.

The Red Cross appealing for a minimum of $3,000,000 for flood sufferers, said 150,000 persons were dependent on it for food and shelter.

AMERICA'S STEEL CAPITAL STARTS ON ITS REHABILITATION

SIX KNOWN DEAD AND OVER $25,000,000 DAMAGE FROM FLOOD IN PITTSBURGH

By HAMILTON FARON (Copyright, 1936, By The Associated Press.)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 19.—America's steel capital threw all its resources into relief and rehabilitation work today as a great flood rolled back, leaving six known dead and damage of more than $25,000,000.

The famous Golden Triangle, wealthy business center, which der martial rule with more than a thousand national guardsmen holding back all unnecessary traffic and keeping out the populace, by proclamation of Mayor William N. McNair it was a legal holiday and the business section was almost deserted.

There still was no electric power for the great metropolis of 700,000 inhabitants and the prospect of any for a day or two.

Gas supplies were low and non-existent in some homes. Hospitals were not affected by the cessation of power, suffering from exposure after fleeing their homes.

Many institutions became havens for flood refugees, injured or suffering from exposure after fleeing their homes.

The busiest place in Pittsburgh was the Red Cross headquarters.

PRESIDENT STATES EMPLOYMENT TREND IS MOVING UPWARD

SPECIAL MESSAGE TO CONGRESS PROPOSES FUNDS GO ENTIRELY TO WPA

WASHINGTON, Mar. 18. (P)—President Roosevelt today asked congress to appropriate $1,500,000,000 for work relief during the next government year beginning July 1.

In a special message to congress, the chief executive viewed the unemployment problem, proposed that the new funds go entirely to the Works Progress Administration and added: "The trend of re-employment is upward, but this trend, at its present rate of progress, is inadequate. I propose therefore, that we ask private business to extend its operations so as to absorb an increasing number of the unemployed."

"If the employment gains are substantial enough, no additional appropriation by the next congress for the fiscal year 1937 will be necessary. The ultimate cost of the federal works program will thus be determined by private enterprise."

In making the request for $1,500,000,000, Mr. Roosevelt noted that more than $1,000,000,000 would be spent out of the treasury in the next fiscal year from prior appropriations, while the budget contained $600,000,000 for various public works and the civil conservation corps.

More Than Three Billion. The gross projected relief outlay, consequently, approached $3,000,000,000. This compared with the president's estimate that relief outlays in the current fiscal year will amount to $3,500,000,000.

In making his relief request, Mr. Roosevelt told congress: "This request, together with those previously submitted to the congress, provide for the civilian conservation corps and certain public works will, if acted upon by the congress, give security during the next fiscal year to those most in need, on condition, however, that private employers employ many of those now on relief rolls."

Would Reduce Deficit. The president said if the tax program were carried out as requested, the $1,500,000,000 work relief appropriation "would in effect provide for the third successive year a reduction in the deficit."

In appealing to congress to take up employment, observers considered significant this paragraph in the message: "While the provisions of the anti-trust laws, intended to prohibit restraint of trade, must be fully and vigorously enforced, there is nothing in these or any other laws which should prohibit managers of private business from working together to increase production and employment."

"Such efforts would indeed be the direct opposite of a conspiracy in restraint of trade. Many private business men believe that if left to themselves they can accomplish the objectives we all seek."

Concerted Action Necessary. Without going into detail of steps open to business to boost employment, Mr. Roosevelt said: "Frankly, there is little evidence that large and small employers by individual and unco-ordinated action can absorb large numbers of new employees. A vigorous effort on a national scale is necessary by voluntary, concerted action of private industry."

"It is my belief that if the leaders in each industry will organize a common effort to increase employment within that industry, employment will increase substantially."

"Insofar as their efforts are successful, the cost to the Federal government of caring for the destitute unemployed will be lessened."

"Only if industry fails to reduce substantially the number of those now out of work will another appropriation and further plans and policies be necessary."

Task of Industry. "It is the task of industry to make further efforts toward increased output and employment; and I urge industry to accept this responsibility. I present this problem and this opportunity definitely to the managers of private business; and I offer in aid of its solution the co-operation of all the appropriate departments and agencies of the federal government."

Mr. Roosevelt said that in December 1935 there were 5,000,000 more people at work than in March 1933, but added:

"In spite of these great gains, there are at present approximately 5,300,000 families and unattached persons who in need of some form of assistance—2,800,000 families and unattached persons on the work program and 1,500, 000 on local and state relief rolls."

The President said these figures, "large as they are," do not include all those seeking work and emphasized: "This problem of unemployment is the most difficult one before the country."

Problem of More Fortunate. "It is not exclusively the problem of the poor and unfortunate themselves," he said. "It is more particularly the problem of those who have been more fortunate under our system of government and our economy."

"It will not do to say that these needy unemployed must or should shift for themselves. x x x Neither will it do to say that it is a problem for the states and localities. x x x The resources of local governments and states have been freely drawn upon in the last few years and they have not been sufficient. x x x"

"It is true that some states, fortunately few, have taken an undue advantage of federal appropriations, but most states have co-operated wholeheartedly in raising relief funds, even to the extent of amending state constitutions."

"It is not desired in the next fiscal year to encourage any states to continue to shirk. The federal government cannot maintain relief for unemployed in any state."

"The federal government, then, faces the responsibility of continuing to provide work for the needy unemployed who cannot be taken care of by state and local funds."

Seeks Relief Funds For Entire Year

WASHINGTON, March 18. (P)—Placing before congress its last major business of the session, President Roosevelt prepared today to ask for $1,000,000,000 and $2,000,000,000 for continuing relief after July 1.

In a surprise move, he decided at a conference with congressional leaders last night to request relief funds for an entire 12 months instead of only for the period up to January, when congress meets again. Congress expected to receive his special message today.

While the exact amount to be requested remained secret, the "1,000,000,000 to $2,000,000,000" figure mentioned by the leaders after the conference was in sharp contrast to the $4,880,000,000 appropriated last year after a bitter senate fight.

Some quarters believed the actual sum requested would be near, or over, $2,000,000,000 than $1,000,000,000.

At present 3,800,000 persons are being employed with funds appropriated last year. Stronous efforts are being made to cut this number to 3,500,000 by July 1.

AN ANTI-WORRY PROGRAM FOR EVERYDAY HUMAN LIVING *

History's Greatest Optimist Sets Forth The Principles of Serene Life ---- "Consider The Lilies" ---- Putting First Things First ---- Investments That Are Never Lost.

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS

At the moment, I am sojourning in southern Florida, amidst such an exhibition of frantic pleasure seeking as may be seen nowhere else on the continent. Myriads of Winter visitors, in quest of sunny skies, rest and recreation, have called into existence an amazing volume of professional purveying of pleasure. Night clubs, horse races, dog races, sports of every kind, amusements of motion picture houses and restaurants, and meetings of endless variety, make their plea of tourists from every day's newspaper.

It is an absorbing spectacle to watch so many persons engrossed in pursuit of "a good time." For most of them are going to wrong outside agencies to keep them amused. And their faces do not mirror serenity and happiness. They are in mad chase after things, things, things. As a baby needs a rattle, many lives demand artificial diversion.

Some Surprising Statistics. Trade illustrates the growing kingdom of things. It is estimated that about 365,000 different articles are for sale in the United States and Canada. A century ago, according to Arnold's commentary, the individual had sixteen needs and seventy-two wants. Now he has ninety-four needs and four hundred and eighty-four wants. The men who gathered these statistics give point to Lowell's familiar lines:

"For a cap and bells our lives we pay,
Bubbles we buy with a whole soul's tasking;
'Tis only heaven that is given away.
'Tis only God May be had for the asking."

Five years of depression surely should have taught us that "a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth"; and should have prepared us for the Jesus programme of worth-while standards. Many, it is true, have learned that "although they have less to live on they have more to live for." Russell Owen, the brilliant journalist who accompanied Byrd to Antarctica, wrote an article recently showing how the glamour of civilization's piled-up artificialities is less worth while than the primitive existence in the Arctic. With the increase of things goes the increase of worries. No thoughtful person can miss the memorials of the increase of suicides and the growth of "nervous prostration" in this era of civilization's highest complexity.

The Great Teacher Speaks. If people believed that the wisest Teacher of all, Jesus of Nazareth, really spoke the truth, there would be an end to this prevalent fear and worry. Jesus completely contradicted the habit of our time when He declared, "Be not anxious for your life, what ye shall eat; not yet for your body, what ye shall put on. For the life is more than the food, and the body than the raiment."

Thus He laid down the platform and programme for the greatest "Don't Worry Society" of the ages. No thin, jejune optimism that shuts its eyes to reality was this declaration of Rabbi Jesus. He first stressed the fatherly care of God, the point wherein faith oftenest fails. "Think about it," said Jesus; "consider" -- "consider the lilies," "consider the ravens. All the basic processes of provision are in the keeping of the Heavenly Father. He cares for His own. Not a sparrow falls without His watchful eye seeing it. The very hairs of our head are numbered. God's chief interest on earth is man; and man's chief interest should be God. Quit your worrying; do let God be God." Learn to say "Our Father," and mean it. All the worried creases in a Christian's brow are but advertisements of unbelief. If God is trustworthy in anything, He is trustworthy in everything. His providence for man's least needs is as sure a proof of His Godship as the creation of the universe.

Putting First Things First. Practical heathenism, Jesus dubbed our common anxiety and worrisomeness over life's material things. That is the way the Gentiles behave. He declared, His friends should know better. After citing the Divine care for the creatures of nature -- even the grass of the field -- the Teacher went on to expound the profound truth that man was made for higher ends than fretting cares.

MONTAGUE COUNTY FORMER OFFICIAL GIVEN REVERSAL

CASE OF J. T. PERRY FROM NAVARRO COUNTY, REVERSED AND REMANDED

AUSTIN, March 18.—(P)—The court of criminal appeals today affirmed a life sentence assessed by the district court in the case of J. T. Perry, a former official of Navarro County, who was convicted of murder in the shooting of Augustus Salas.

The conviction of W. E. Reynolds, tax collector of Montague county in 1934, of conversion and misapplication of public funds, was reversed and a new trial ordered. Reynolds was sentenced to two years.

Reynolds was indicted of fraudulently misapplying funds he had placed in the county depository bank. The court ruled that he and his sureties were relieved of responsibility for safe-keeping after the money was deposited as required by law.

Reynolds, it held, was "not in contemplation of law the possessor of the money he was charged with having converted and misapplied." The court ruled that he was not in contemplation of law the possessor of the money he was charged with having converted and misapplied.

A three-year sentence assessed by the district court in the case of Guadalupe Garcia in Hidalgo county on conviction of failure to stop and render aid was affirmed. He admitted guilt on a charge he did not stop after his automobile struck and killed J. E. Hausenfluck.

Garcia's attorney contended the conviction should be reversed because of proof that Hausenfluck was killed instantly and it would have been useless for Garcia to stop and take the man to a physician.

Appellate Court Proceedings.—AUSTIN, March 18.—(P)—Proceedings in the court of criminal appeals today included:

Affirmed—Guadalupe Garcia from Hidalgo; C. R. Barret from Grayson; Joe Pitts from Taylor; M. E. Nicely from Grayson.

Reversed and Remanded—J. T. Perry from Navarro.

DAIRYMAN IS MAIN SPEAKER AT ROTARY LUNCHEON SESSION

STATE HOME SCHOOL STUDENTS FURNISHED MUSICAL FEATURE FOR PROGRAM

Charles Willmann, Corsicana dairyman, was the principal speaker at Wednesday's luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club at the Navarro Hotel, and gave a classification talk upon the proper handling of milk. W. L. Apperson, Safeway Stores manager, was welcomed to the club as a new member.

Today's program was arranged by Mr. Willmann and B. A. Jeffries, and Dr. Leslie Kelton, Jr., president, announced he and Season Holsey, secretary, would have charge of next Wednesday's program. Billy Peck, Jr., was a visitor today.

Mr. Jeffries presented the musical portion of today's program, which included two violin solos by Meddie Kello, State Home student, who played "Don Juan," a Spanish serenade, and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Manie Baade Forkie. The next musical numbers were given by the girls glee club, directed and accompanied by Miss Rosa Baade. Their numbers were "Pride of the South," "Rounded Up in Glory," and "Texas, Our Texas."

Mr. Willmann discussed the importance of clean water and proper kind of food for cows, to get the purest and best flavored milk. Much of his talk dealt with the cleanliness necessary to the proper handling of milk, and he illustrated several ways of properly and improperly capping the bottles.

Mr. Willmann discussed the early work of Louis Pasteur, French scientist, in his work of fermenting wines, and later a similar adaptation for the protection of milk, which process bears his name.

Mr. Willman said milk is pasteurized by heating it to a high temperature, then after milking, keeping that temperature 30 minutes, and then cooling quickly. He said this method kills most of the germs, and yet does not harm the food value or the flavor of the milk.

Navarro County Girls Tournament, Resumed Tuesday

Plans for the continuation this afternoon and tonight and completion Wednesday night of the 1936 Navarro county girls basketball tournament on the Frost gymnasium were nearing completion this morning by county interscholastic League officials, sponsors of the tourney.

Union High, storm center of the tournament, was scheduled to play Frost at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in a second quarter final game, and the winner was booked for an engagement at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening with Frost in a second semi-final game, the winner of which will meet Barry in the county final game at 8 o'clock Wednesday night. The loser of tonight's second semi-final game will meet Currie at 7 o'clock Wednesday night for third place consolation title.

Union High defeated Frost in the regular quarter-final game and Bryan in the regular semi-final game of the tournament on Saturday, Feb. 29, to go into the final with Barry, winner of the upper bracket. Union High's eligibility was questioned and protested by Frost and later by Purdon, and after considerable negotiating, Union High was reinstated, with the stipulation that they would replay their Purdon, Frost and Bryan games to determine which of the four teams would go into the final.

Those games were scheduled for Tuesday, March 4, but due to an outbreak of measles in several of the clubs, the games were postponed until Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

E. C. BUTLER HAS RESIGNED AS HEAD EMHOUSE SCHOOLS

E. C. Butler, superintendent of the Emhouse schools for the past six years, resigned his post Tuesday night to accept a place as superintendent of the schools at Lancaster, Dallas county. No successor has been named.

Mr. Butler was recently re-elected at Emhouse for a two-year term. His Lancaster contract calls for a similar period and is a distinct promotion. The Dallas county school system has 25 teachers, and is affiliated both with the state department of education and with the Southern Association of Colleges. They are now completing a $25,000 gymnasium at Lancaster.

Before taking over the helm of the Emhouse schools, Butler was superintendent at Currie for two

HEY!
I WANT TO ASK
YOU A COUPLE OF QUESTIONS

1. "Did you ever watch a photographer making a picture on a cloudy day?"

"If you did you saw him giving his camera more 'time.' He does that because the 'eye' of the camera works harder and takes longer to 'get' the picture. When there is good light the camera 'gets' the picture quickly.

"Your eyes work the same way. When the light is poor your eyes work harder and longer to 'get' the words on the page, the stitches in your sewing. Every time your eyes move from one object to another they must adjust themselves to 'get' the picture you want.

"This constant movement of the eyes tires them ... wears your nerves ... weakens your eyes ... causes headaches, and makes you irritable.

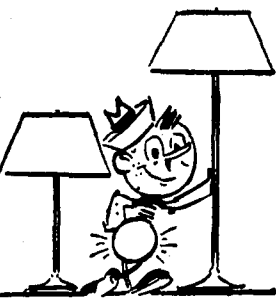

"Good light lets your eyes work without tiring. Remember that your eyes were made to see by daylight. You can have light that is better than daylight. It saves your eyes and your temper ... beautifies your home.

2. "Have you had a 'Sight-meter Test' made in your home?"

"I wish you would. It is interesting. You will see how simple it is to have Better Light. You will thank me for the tip, and I can serve you better.

"Ask at our office for the 'Sight-meter Test.' It's Free!

"Have you seen these New Better Sight Lamps? I recommend them for all home lighting needs. See them today at our store, or at your Dealer's."

EXPERIENCE.

What have you to tell us now
Who have run away from blizzards,
Only how you played, and how Well you dally stuffed your giz-zards.

What has pleasure to narrate Save the same old round of gloating;
Dining, well and dancing late,
Fishing, riding, golfing, boating.

Hours you stretched upon the sand
Basking in the tropic splendor.
What is proved by features tanned
More than epidermis tender?

We who braved the winter through Risked our lives in deep crevasses;
Flood and fire the foes we knew,
Flood and fire and deadly gas-

We have big adventure known,
We faced peril and disaster;
In a cruel danger zone
We had bitterness to master.

Now you're back again in town,
From the scenes where naught befell you.
Take a chair and settle down
We've a thrilling tale to tell you.

THE FRIENDLIEST FRONTIER.

It looks like a big year for friendly visiting between the United States and Canada. This is more a one-way business than is our exchange of merchandise. Although many Canadians visit the States, far more of our people visit the Dominion, because it is a newer country than ours and a more unspoiled playground.

In late years Americans have found unaccustomed annoyances in crossing the border, because tariff rates and policies had tightened up. These annoyances are lessened now by the reciprocal trade treaty, and the new Liberal government at Ottawa is preparing to play host more graciously than usual. The difference is seen in a statement from Clarence D. Howe, new Canadian minister of railways,
who says:

"We shall urge upon all branches of the government, and upon the provincial governments, the paramount consideration of friendliness and courtesy. To facilitate travel between the United States and Canada we have relaxed customs and immigration regulations, so that it is now possible to cross the border with less inconvenience than would be experienced at any other frontier in the world.

"It is a part of our job to co-ordinate activities of provincial tourist agencies and local organizations. We inform the tourist of the special and peculiar attractions of each province in the Dominion. Insomnia for 'guest' motor cars and other considerations are part of the treatment we propose."

INSURANCE FUND GAINS.

The British unemployment insurance fund, started in 1911, was pretty well used up by depression demands—which began earlier in England than over here.
Its virtual bankruptcy in 1931, necessitating creation of an outright dole for British unemployed, was a part of the financial crisis that forced out MacDonald's Labor government.

Today that unemployment insurance fund is thriving again. It has a surplus of six and a half million pounds, or more than $30,- 000,000. The minister of labor has just announced that, beginning with July,
the weekly insurance premiums paid by employers and by workers over 18 years old would be reduced a penny.

This reassuring condition, indicating British recovery from the depression ought to interest all citizens of this country interested in unemployment insurance from any angle—as employee, employer or taxpaying citizen.

Even floods have their good points. They mean that winter is on the run.

The birds are beginning to show interest in rural housing projects.

Anyway, the United States Treasury has a silver lining.

Lucky is the man who is

VISTAWALKING RACES.

One of the Olympic contests which hasn't had much publicity is the walking race. That particular sport seems to be a difficult one, for the judges. In fact, it has been dropped from Olympic programs twice in the past, but is reinstated
this year.

The difference between walking for speed and running, if an ignorant outsider has read his sports writers correctly, is that the walking racer must put the heel of one foot on the ground before the tip of the other foot leaves the ground.
The runner experiences an instant in each step when neither foot touches the ground. The natural tendency of the person walking faster and faster is to change to running. In walking contests the judges usually have to get down on all fours along the edge of the track to watch the racers' feet and to decide whether this heel-and-toe business is strictly observed. And the thing that makes the sport so generally belligerent is that the judges almost never agree.
Walkers are always being disqualified for running.
Protests and arguments abound.

One often sees children having walking races, which always end in running, with all the contestants claiming victory. It does seem as if it would be a bit more adult to have Olympic walkers compete in grace and cariage rather than speed.

FOOD AND DIETS

Scientists at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, who have been working at the problem of nutrition, present a diet plan showing foods "necessary to everyone daily."
Here it is:

Milk, eggs, meat, vegetables (potatoes and one or two other cooked vegetables as well as limited amounts of raw vegetables), fruits (raw or cooked), cereals, breads, fats and sweets in "reasonable amounts."

There isn't much left out. That should please the anti-dieters with good appetites. A normal and healthy person on that broad and inclusive diet will surely get all his vitamins, calories, and so on. For the person not normal in health,
it is still a wise plan to follow the doctor's advice on foods.

Really, is it fair of Mordecai Ezekiel, modern economic prophet, to offer everybody $2,500 a year and expect them to work for it?

DAWES' FORECAST

Charles G. Dawes, Chicago banker and former vice president, is prophesying such a jump in new purchases by the "heavy industries" as came last year in the light industries. He proved to be so good a prophet a year ago, when he promised flourishing business by the middle of the year, that he is more likely to be trusted this time.

A revived demand for heavy goods is what the business world and its dependents have been waiting for. When it comes, the revival will be assured. There has been hardly any buying of this kind in the last five years.

A fair start is already perceptible. Gen. Dawes thinks there will be at least two years of prosperous activity in this field. If so,
with the heavy industries fully equipped again, general business might be expected to skate on for at least a couple of years longer, before there came another slow-down.

BINDER'S ERROR IS NOT FATAL TO MANY CRIMINAL STATUTES

COURT RULES MISTAKE OBVIOUSLY INADVERTENT AND DID NOT REFLECT INTENT

AUSTIN, March 18.—(P)—The Court of Criminal Appeals today ruled that a binder's error in assembling the official copy of the 1925 Texas Criminal Code did not invalidate about 150 articles.

The binder dropped a complete folio in the copy signed by the governor and filed in the state archives.

The decision was in the case of T. J. Copeland, penitentiary inmate convicted under one of the "lost laws." The appellate court affirmed a judgment of the Huntsville district court denying him freedom on a writ of habeas corpus.

The court, in an opinion by Judge George E. Christian of the commission of appeals, said it was obvious the mistake was inadvertent and that the enrolled bill did not reflect the intent of the legislature.

"It is obvious that the offenses of incest and bigamy and other offenses listed in the index to the enrolled (official) bill, but not defined therein, were omitted inadvertently, that is, by accident or mistake, and that it was not the intention of the legislature to repeal such omitted offenses as are shown in the index to said enrolled bill and as were defined in the penal code of 1911 and subsequent enactments," the opinion stated.

Copeland was convicted of incest at Seymour and was sentenced to two years.

Judge Christian overruled contentions of Copeland's attorney that a section of the code which stated that all laws not included were intentionally omitted did not control.

"This is an exceptional case in which the situation presented manifests that the repealing clause was directed at statutes which had been intentionally omitted by the coiffers and the legislature, and not at the offenses shown by the enrolled bill to have been inadvertently omitted by accident or mistake," the opinion stated.

"A clause in a statute purporting to repeal other statutes is subject to the same rule of interpretation as other enactments and the intent must prevail over the literal interpretation."

Not Legislative Intent
"To impute to the legislature the intent to repeal the statutes defining incest, bigamy, seduction and adultery is to lay at its door the charge of ignoring the moral sense of the people of this state and striking down some of the strongest safeguards of the home. That such was not the legislative intent is apparent from the enrolled bill.
"We hold that the omitted statutes, as embodied in the penal code of 1911 and subsequent enactments have not been repealed."
The error in binding was discovered in January when a research worker for a law book publishing company checked the archives.
The codification was ordered by the legislature and made by a special commission. Out of several thousand copies printed error was discovered only in the official copy filed in the archives.

Attorney General William Mc-Craw said the decision ended the rites.

Malakoff, where he was forced to descend while they returned to Corsicana.

The car was later found in East Corsicana with the motor running and gears stripped. The two men were arrested shortly afterward and the wrist watch and part of the money recovered.

FATHER CORSICANA MAN PASSED AWAY MILWAUKEE, W IS.

Will Z. Herman last night received a message stating that his father, Jacob Herman, had died in Milwaukee late Wednesday as the result of a heart attack which was suffered on Monday and from which he failed to rally. The message stated that burial would take place in Milwaukee, home of Mr. Herman for many years, on Friday morning, says Jacob Herman, who was 85 years of age at the time of his death, was in business in Corsicana but returned to the north and made his home in Milwaukee, all members of his family going with him except one son, W. Z. Herman, who remained in Corsicana and who has been a resident here for more than forty years and is popular among a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Herman was born in Europe and came to America when a lad of fourteen years and made a good American citizen all of the time.

His wife preceded him in death several years ago. Surviving are four daughters and four sons, all residing in Northern cities except his son in Corsicana.

SUCCESSFUL STORAGE OF MAIZE HEADS IN TRENCH SILOS TOLD

COLLEGE STATION, March 19.—(Spl.)—The successful storage of maize heads in trench silos has just been announced by E. H. Eudaly, extension service dairyman. The successful experiments have been carried on at the farm of L. W. Worsham, Goliad county, and at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station. Trench silos for storing both heads and stalks of grain sorghums have been used for a number of years, but this is the first time that heads alone have been stored in a trench silo.

In the fall, Mr. Worsham had a late feed crop of 150 acres of hogear which it was impossible for him to save in the usual way, because the weather was so rainy and the hogear could not be dried in the field. Under Eudaly's direction, he cut 200 tons of heads and stored them in two trench silos, 100 tons in each, packing in the heads and covering them with water. Then two feet of dirt was put on top. When the trench was uncovered, it was found that the heads had kept perfectly.

Worsham has nearly emptied one trench in feeding 200 head of hogs, 100 sheep, 5 horses and mules, and 50 turkeys. The maize heads are soft and can be eaten by the animals just as taken from the silo without being ground.

This plan eliminates the danger of loss from rats and weevils," Eudaly said. "No fire insurance is necessary. It is cheap storage. And the grain can't blow away."

WOMAN WAS FOUND GUILTY IN FAMOUS "DOLL BABY" CASE

DORCHESTER, N. B., March 19.—(P)—New Brunswick's celebrated "doll baby" case brought Mrs. May Bannister, convicted of harboring a kidnapped child, face to face today with a possible maximum sentence of three and one half years imprisonment.

A jury of twelve men found the woman guilty last night of this charge, but decided her innocent of two more serious charges—the actual kidnapping of Betty Ann Lake and taking the child unlawfully with intent to deprive the parents. She will be sentenced later. The blue-eyed doll which figured in the case was tucked away in the care of welfare workers as a 12-day lapse began in the series of three trials arising from the backwoods kidnapping and slayings. Mrs. Bannister's 19-year-old son Arthur awaits a mandatory death sentence upon conviction of murdering the kidnapped baby's father, Philip Lake. Her other son, Daniel, 20, will face trial March 31 on a similar charge. Lake was shot and left to burn in his flaming cabin Jan. 5 the night his infant daughter was slain, his housekeeper, Bertha Ring was slain and her son Jackie left to die in a snowdrift.

Exclusive Dress Shoppe Planning For Big Season

Observing their six-month anniversary in Corsicana recently, officials of the Exclusive Dress Shoppe declared that their faith in this city expressed through the location of their sixteenth store here had been well justified, and that they were making definite plans for expanded activity in the ranks of the leading merchants of the city.

J. J. Utitz of Beaumont, owner of the extensive chain of ladies shops throughout the state, was in Corsicana this week surveying the accomplishments of the local store and indicated satisfaction with its progress, and expressing confidence that the coming months would continue to show a steady increase in volume of business.

Miss Lella Gallaher, manager of the Corsicana store, reported that the Exclusive would be supplied with an even larger and more varied assortment of spring merchandise as a result of purchases made by Mr. Utitz in a series of visits to northern and eastern markets recently.

"Exclusive but not expensive is our motto," said Miss Gallaher, "and we are here to prove it." She also reported that plans had been completed for more extensive merchandising efforts in Corsicana including the signing of a contract for wider use of newspaper advertising in informing the shoppers of Corsicana of the quality products available.

At Johnston, the first reports as to the five dead. But every hour brought rumors of more deaths from the two days of rage by the Conemaugh.

The Conemaugh surged toward the Chesapeake Bay on the worst rampage on record, threatening the National Capital with its many shrines.

Delaying his departure for a Florida vacation, President Roosevelt summoned Secretary of War Dorn and other aides to the White House for a conference on lending all possible help to stricken communities.

After the conference, the President issued a proclamation appealing for contributions of $3,000,000 to the Red Cross for flood relief.

The Red Cross, emphasizing the magnitude of the disaster, said 150,000 victims already were dependent on it for aid throughout the east.

Appeal For Funds.
The President's proclamation, in part, read:
"Flood waters raging through-out 11 states have driven 200,000 people from their homes, with every indication that this number may be materially increased within the next few hours. In this grave emergency, the Red Cross is turning to our great national relief agency, the American Red Cross, for food, clothing, shelter and medical care."

To enable the Red Cross to meet its immediate obligation and to continue to carry the burden of caring for these unfortunate men, women and children, it is necessary to raise three million dollars to be raised as promptly as possible."

The Connecticut and Merrimack rivers in New England were in a deadly state, swollen by continued rains, but the Ohio river valley was the center of the day's greatest havoc.

Terrifying in its swiftness, the surge of flood waters in the early dawn poured over Wellburg, drowning two men. Throughout the dark hours, hundreds screamed for help as rescue craft plied the streets to the aid of stranded.

Struck Hardest in Wheeling.
But it was in Wheeling that the river struck hardest.

Wheeling, at the center of the river between the Ohio and West Virginia shores, was inundated. Dozens of persons were taken from second and third story windows by a fleet of fifty or more rescue boats.

Over the lowland section of the city, the water stood at 18 feet or more, swirling into the business area. The Windsor Hotel, one of the city's largest, was engulfed by the flood.

All schools were closed. The city was demoralized. Power was impaired and gas lines were gone down the Ohio, as far as Huntington 200 miles away, thousands of river-side residents fled to the hills. The danger along the river was acute.

At Huntington, Ohio, the water supply was contaminated and medical authorities called for antitoxin serum from Columbus and other cities.

At Baltimore, the hospital sent out a distress call for water as the city's supply was cut off.

Up at the source of the Great Ohio, at the confluence of rivers, Monongahela and Allegheny, a debris-strewn mass of desolation.

Golden Triangle Slime Coated.
Inside the steel mill where millions of dollars changed hands before the flood came yesterday, slime and receding waters coated streets and buildings.

Alert national guardsmen kept everyone out of the business area. There was not a trace of looting.

The waters fell back at the rate of 6 inches an hour, but the city of 700,000 faced another night without lights. Not a trolley car moved.

There was ten feet of water in some parts of the department store and another district, but in other sections, boats pressed hastily into service yesterday were stranded by the receding flood.

During the night, hundreds of stranded persons packed the Pennsylvania railroad station.

From suburban Sharpsburg came a report, not immediately verified, of the discovery of six bodies by flood.

The danger appeared past at Johnston, cut off from the rest of the nation for hours by the flooded Conemaugh river.

Quemahoning dam was holding and believed safe and the river was virtually back within its normal banks.

Five hundred guardsmen rushed into the city last night and today to aid in rehabilitation, and thousands of persons—cold, hungry and horrified after hours of anguish—straggled back to their homes, many of them now mere shambles.

Trucks of foodstuffs sent from all over the east, rolled into the city throughout the forenoon.

George Fuller, manager of the Johnston Telephone company who kept the outside world informed of the distress throughout the east, estimated the damage at $10,000,000—far above the great disaster of 1889.

Then, some 2,000 persons were swept to their death when the dam above the city gave out without warning. But this time the warning came early and only five dead so far have been counted.

Elsewhere over Pennsylvania, rivers generally were receding but many localities were still isolated. Throughout the east, the property damage was mounting to around $100,000,000 with an estimated $25,000,000 property loss in Pittsburgh alone.

The rapidly-swelling Potomac, with its flood crest nearing Washington, left behind it a 100-mile wake of homeless families, isolated and destruction.

Every River Town Flooded.

Every town on the river from Cumberland on down was flooded. Maryland officials lent all aid to prevent a spread of epidemic.

The fear of pestilence, likewise was found throughout the East.

The crisis in the national capital was expected tonight.

Water street in Georgetown was flooded. Relief workers hastily piled up a 10-foot wall of sandbags to protect the Washington monument and other federal structures.

The White House, a quarter of a mile away, was believed free of danger. The capitol, on a hill at the end of Pennsylvania avenue, gave no concern.

In the 1889 flood, the Potomac washed the famed avenue.

While much of upstate New York was under water, Binghamton, was most seriously afflicted. An acute water shortage increased danger from disease.

Sectionalized, the panorama of ruin, with uncounted thousands homeless, shows elsewhere:

New England.
Gravest fear were felt along the Connecticut and Merrimack rivers far above their all-time peaks of 1927.

Red Cross, legionnaires, CCC workers and WPA workers joined the national guardsmen in all the states in reclamation and rescue work.

The Vernon Dam on the Connecticut, near Brattleboro, Vt., was still holding, but badly battered by ice, twisted framework of bridges and other debris. Frequent reports that the dam had burst, or was about to go, sent thousands to higher land all down the valley.

Brattleboro was without electric power, leaving a candle-light night of anxiety.

At least half a hundred communities were completely isolated from Southwestern Maine to Connecticut, including Concord, Capital of New Hampshire. Highways generally in all directions were closed and train service was halted throughout the area.

Heavy rains continued throughout the day, increasing the danger of a crisis along most of the rivers was expected by nightfall. Rivers were expected by nightfall.

New Hartford, Conn., was hard hit. State troopers patrolled the streets to prevent looting. All persons in the hamlet of Satan's Kitchen, nearby, were ordered to evacuate their homes with the steady rise in the Connecticut river. Power was off.

At Lowell, Mass., confluence of the Concord and Merrimack rivers, the danger was described by officials as the greatest the town has ever known. Thousands of mill workers were out of jobs as factories were closed by rising waters.

New York State.
Flood waters ripped through the entire village of Green Island in the Hudson river.

Its 7,000 inhabitants prepared to flee in rowboats.

CCC workers frantically built sand bag barricades but torrents were sweeping inward.

At Binghamton, National guardsmen patrolled the streets. Terror-stricken residents set out receptacles to catch rain as a water shortage grew. Schools and factories were closed. By morning no deaths had been reported.

Twenty blocks in Schenectady were under water as the surging Mohawk river drove 30 families from their homes.

A dam at Morrisville was dynamited to release the ice jam which had flooded the entire city to a five-foot depth.

Pennsylvania.
Governor Earle mobilized 2,000 National Guardsmen to rush relief to stricken areas as the flood-maddened rivers slowly abated.

From Williamsport came emergency appeals by radio for the 3,000 homeless. All other communications were severed.

A quarter-mile dike at Milton collapsed placing almost the entire city under water. Five firemen were missing in a rowboat rescue attempt.

The community of Watsonstown was marooned. Six were dead at Huntington where bridges and houses collapsed before the onslaught of flood waters. The Sunbury and Williamsport bridges were destroyed. The Ohio river Barre but residents were endangered by gas from broken mains. All rail traffic was at a standstill. Mercy Hospital sheltering many injured was isolated, carrying on with emergency power equipment.

New Jersey.
Heavy rains brought renewed fears along the Delaware river. Bridges were holding up but traffic was limited.

Southern States.
The heavy snows of yesterday brought new dangers to Western North Carolina. Food and fuel were running dangerously low in the Newland community, where several hundred children are marooned by drifts.

Along the Shenandoah, in Virginia, the flood waters rapidly receded, but on the James river a steady rise brought danger to the outside world.

YOUR OWN COLD CREAM

INDIVIDUAL COLD CREAMS
Why not have your own individual cold cream, a product which you know to be pure and beneficial? Miss Forbes tells you how to do this without much expense.

It is not at all uncommon these days for the discriminating woman to have her own cold cream made up just as she likes it. She has her own perfume or her own individual color scheme. On the surface this may sound like the height of silliness, but actually there's a lot of sense in it. The theory is that once you have found a cold cream which really suits you, you stick to it and stop experimenting. Also a great many women are beginning to ask about the genuine value of creams at prices like twenty and thirty dollars a jar.

Here is a cold cream formula. Or rather, let me say here is the cold cream formula. This is the basis on which all cold creams are built, cleansing, nourishing, or wrinkle creams, will give it in the simplest form which is just cleansing. You take one ounce of white beeswax and one ounce of spermaceti, put them in a small sauce-pan with five ounces of good grade mineral oil. You heat them slowly until the waxes have melted and blended. In another pan you put three and a half ounces of water, a quarter ounce of powdered boracic acid, and a little more than lukewarm. Remove both pans from the fire, slowly pour the water into the oil, stir and beat, and when it begins to congeal pour it off into jars. If you like perfumed cream, which I don't add a few drops of perfumed oil after the mixture begins to cool. The more you beat the finer and lighter the cream, and if you follow these directions there is no possibility of going wrong.

Variations are endless. For massage and nourishing, use almond oil instead of mineral. As this costs from 17 to 25 cents an ounce it will make your cream slightly more expensive. Nevertheless, you get several jars of the finest cream rough for fifteen dollars' worth for about two. In fact, it is not possible for you to buy anything better.

Mrs. C. V.—There are numbers of rinses sold now for giving tints to the hair, and not necessarily to give glint or to lighten the shades that are natural. You will be able to give a slightly darker shade to your light coloring very easily with one of these, as they come for all colors and shades, even to tinting for black when that color of hair has been a bit faded. They are not dyes in any sense, and wash right out of the hair again at the time of the next shampoo. Your skin should be as fair as it was originally, if your digestion was perfect, especially if your liver were functioning as it did. An occasional fast, or a period of dieting and cleansing the system, will usually bring the reward of a cleared skin with its youthful appearance again. Stretching exercises will help your daughter overcome this tendency to accumulate weight over hips and thighs. Women who have sedentary occupations should take daily exercise that will bring into use all the muscles around the waist, over the abdomen, and the thighs. The stretch helps all the unused muscles and keeps the entire body from slumping, or accumulating fleshiness anywhere at all.

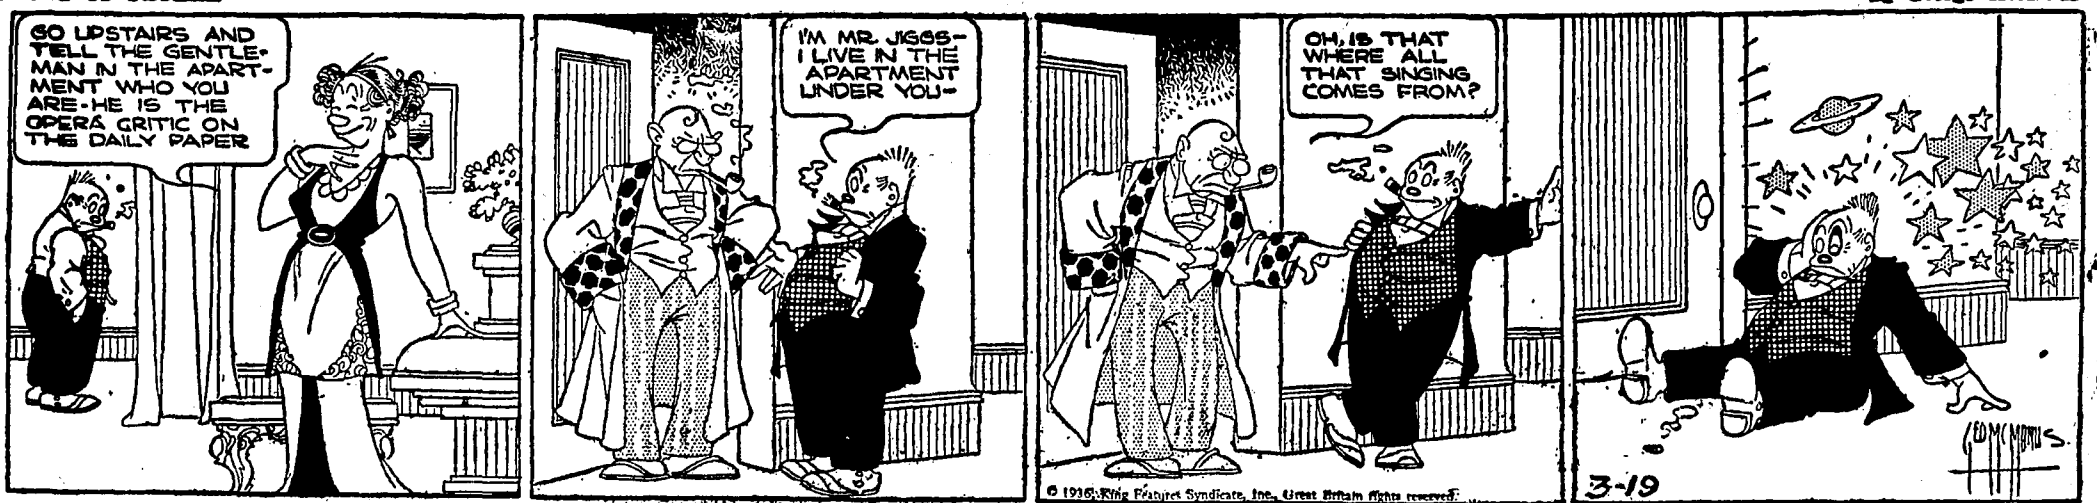

MEXIA COUNTRY CLUB STARTS ITS ANNUAL BARBECUE TOURNEY

MEXIA, March 18.—(Spl.)—Ninety-two golf players of the Mexia Country club squared off Tuesday for their annual Easter barbecue tournament. The low score for the team wins, according to Ralph Morgan, club manager, who points out that each of the 46 on Captain Louis H. Simpson's side will play one man on Captain Maxwell T. Hill's side.

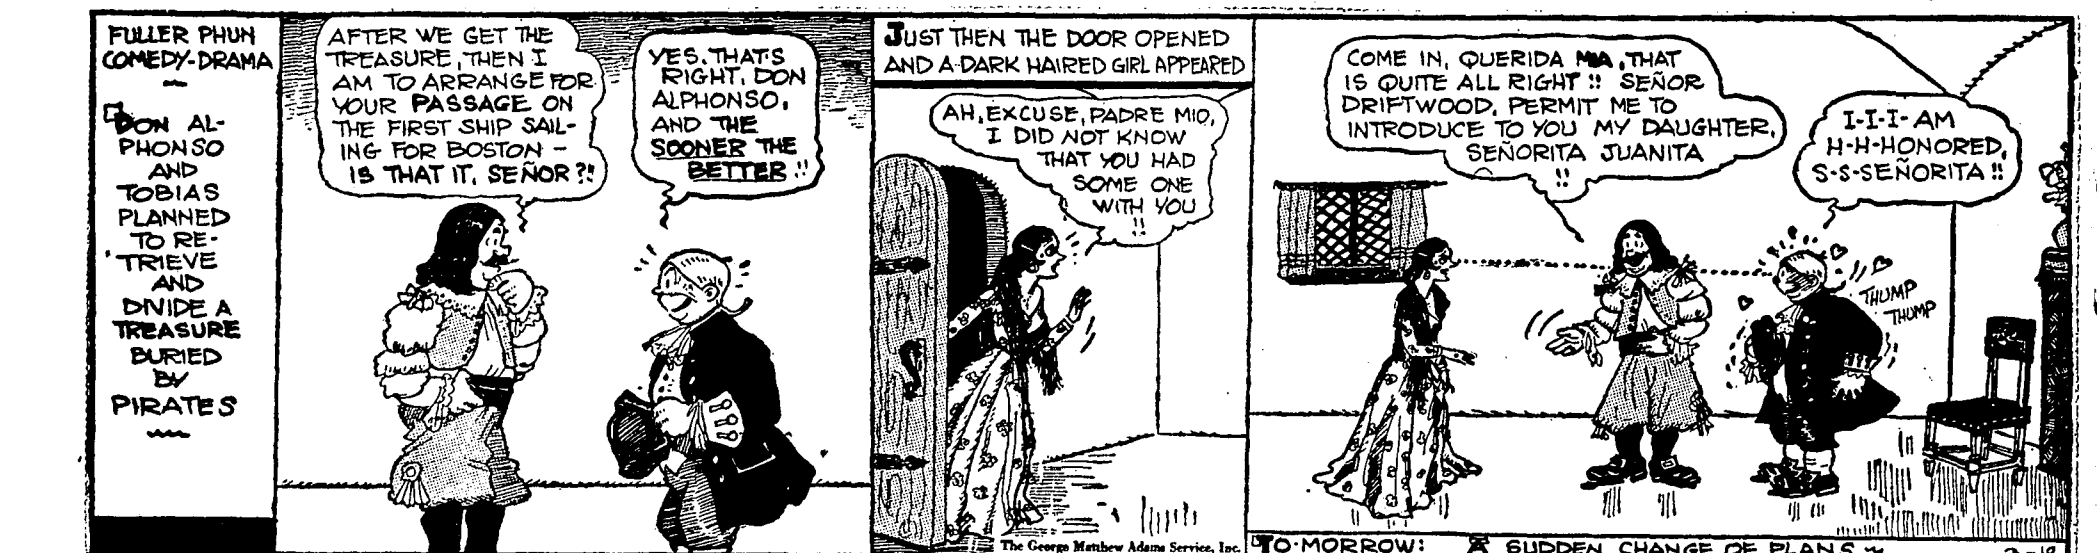

If one side of the two-man team refuses to play, he forfeits the match and his side loses 10 strokes. The matches may be played anytime between now and March 31 deadline. The barbecue will be within 10 days after that time, or a few days before Easter.

The golf committee is composed of Lynn Adams, Jack Slay, Eddie

FARMING

With the reports reaching him that a fairly good stand is being produced despite the dry weather.

He said the acreage would be about average, and not considering the corn on the lands rented to the government during the past couple of years. Under the new regulations no corn is to be harvested on the lands taken out of production. However, the lands in question can be planted for pastures or for soil building but not for harvest.

Morris said.

Details of the farm program have not been announced, Morris related, but he said he expected that it will be somewhat similar to that in form of years. He estimates from 31 to 33 per cent of the normal cotton acreage will be reduced, two or three per cent of the corn acreage, etc. Morris said that farmer R. take out acreage in any soil depletion crop—cotton, corn, grains, etc., and not necessarily cotton only. This is calculated to relieve injustices done in prior years when farmers who had diversified their crops apparently were penalized in cutting their cotton acreage too low for a well-balanced farm program under the governmental regulations.

Gardens Suffering.

"Gardens are suffering considerably due to the lack of rain," the county agent stated.

When queried relative to cotton planting, County Agent Morris said he did not think there would be any cotton planted prior to April, as a result of farmers planting in March last year had advised him they would wait until later in the season this year.

"About the same acreage in grain sorghums are expected this year, as this crop is a sure one. Heggart, maize, kaffir and feterita are the more popular grain sorghums among Navarro county farmers, and also alfalfa for the filling of trench silos."

Some sudan is planted for hay and pasture. The usual hay crop is anticipated.
